Official Changes At Court House Set For Monday

Satterthwaite To Be Sworn For Full Term

DOYLESTOWN — Official business of Bucks County will get under way Monday morning, when newly elected county officers will take their oaths of office and appointments will be installed.

President Judge Hiran H. Keller will administer the oath to his associate, Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite, who was elected last November to a full 10-year term. He was named as third judge of the Court of Common Pleas by Gov. John S. Fine, on Nov. 27, 1951, and was elected on both the Republican and Democratic tickets last November.

Judge Satterthwaite is the son of William H. Satterthwaite, veteran member of the Bucks County Bar Association. He is a resident of Doylestown.

Vanartsdalen To Take Oath
The oath of office will also be administered to Donald W. Vanartsdalen, of Doylestown, as chief prosecuting attorney of Bucks county. He was appointed an assistant district attorney on August 29, 1949, when Judge Edward G. Biester was named an additional law judge of the county.

District Attorney Vanartsdalen succeeds the retiring prosecuting attorney, Willard S. Curtin, of Morrisville, who has served with distinction since 1938, as assistant and later as chief prosecutor.

Hartzel to Be Reappointed
Reappointment of J. Franklin Hartzel, of Doylestown, and appointment of Paul R. Beckert, of Levittown, as assistants, will also take place Monday, upon the recommendation of Vanartsdalen.

Beckert, one of the youngest members of the bar association, has been practicing and associated with the law office of J. Leslie Kilcoyne, in Bristol.

A native of Pittsburgh, Beckert, 32, graduated from Temple University law school in 1949, and practiced law in Philadelphia for two years and in Bristol for two years. He was the first president of the Levittown Civic Association, and is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States and the Exchange Club.

Mrs. Smith Served 26 Years
C. LeRoy Murray, of Warrington township, will take the oath as Sheriff, succeeding Harry H. Ross, of Churchville. Mrs. Pearl H. Smith, of Doylestown, is retiring as deputy after 26 years of service.

The appointment of Miss Dorothy Bethel, of Doylestown, as a deputy sheriff, to fill the vacancy left by retiring deputy, Mrs. Smith. There are five deputies in the Sheriff's office. A new clerk will be added to fill the vacancy left by the elevation of Miss Bethel to a deputyship.

Collins as Deed Recorder
John A. Collins, of Falls township, will take the oath as Recorder of Deeds, succeeding J. Hart Jamison, of Ivyland.

Raymond Elestein, of Durham township, will take the oath as Prothonotary, succeeding Joseph A. Keating, of Langhorne.

County Controller Howard G. Krupp, of Chalfont, who has held that office since it was created in 1941, when he was appointed by former Governor Arthur James, will take the oath for another four-year term.

Fairless Works U. S. Steel Pride

Chairman Cites It In 1953 Review

The setting into operation in the late fall of the last of the major facilities of the Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Corp., was described as "the most impressive of construction accomplishments for 1953" by Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel.

In a year-end statement, Fairless mentioned the Fairless Works among the accomplishments of the firm during 1953.

"The corporation's iron ore mine development at Cerro Bolivar, Venezuela, also neared completion during the year and the first shipment is scheduled to leave for the United States early in January," he said.

Fairless mentioned the start of construction of the "country's most modern steel research center near Pittsburgh" in July and the first shipment of taconite to Minnesota for mill use as advances in research, during 1953.

300 Million Investment
In announcing plans for 1954, he said, "U. S. Steel Corp. is backing its confidence in this country's economic future by an investment of approximately $300,000,000 during 1954 in new equipment and replacements of its production facilities."

"During 1953," Fairless said, "U. S. Steel, alone, established an all-time production record of 35,700,000 ingot tons of steel, which was accomplished by operating at the annual average rate of 98 per cent of capacity."

He mentioned freedom from major work stoppages, elimination of price and wage controls and the leveling of the cost of living as important factors in this record.

Sees Tougher Competition
"Yet these developments," he said, "do not in themselves guarantee this country a flourishing economy for 1954. The heavy demand for steel during 1953 stemmed, in part, from a backlog of demands left in the disastrous wake of the steel strike of 1952."

He pointed out that the demand for steel for defense continued in 1953 and has since been cut back. Fairless said that this factor will mean tougher competition.

Emilie Methodists Start Parsonage At Rolling Lane

Construction of a new parsonage for the Emilie Methodist Church is under way at Rolling lane and Emilie road, at the Red Cedar Hill section of Levittown. Ground was broken a week ago.

Starting date for construction of a new church has not been determined. A committee to look into church construction was appointed at the recent quarterly conference of the Levittown-Emilie Methodist Church.

The parsonage will be a ranch-type dwelling with brick facing. The Rev. L. Thomas Moore, Jr., is pastor of the church.

15 Chest Agencies Allotted $194,465 After Fund Study

Distributions Will Total 82 Per Cent Of Original Goal

Fifteen Bucks County Community Chest agencies have been allocated $194,465 for 1954 as a result of the second Red Feather campaign in Bucks County.

This figure was announced today by Clyde J. Waterman, president of the Bucks County United Services Federation, the parent body of the Community Chest.

Thirty thousand was estimated as the amount needed for the American Red Cross and for administration, audit, and reserve against losses due to deaths and removals.

Budget Reviewed
The allocations for all purposes total $279,219 or about 82 per cent of the original goal of $341,290.

The amounts approved for each agency have been recommended by the Bucks County United Services Federation Budget Committee, headed by Stanley H. Repton, Morrisville, after a thorough study of the campaign results and a review of the budget requests submitted originally by the Chest's agencies.

Repton said that the amounts approved for the various health, welfare and recreation groups will be re-considered if additional money is raised. He pointed out that the campaign is still in progress in some industries and communities.

Allocations Listed
The new allocations are as follows:

Arthritis & Rheumatism Foundation	$ 6,000
Boy Scouts	34,000
Bucks Co. Mental Health Clinic	4,000
Community Nurse Association	2,613
Friends Service Association	8,000
Girl Scouts	24,750
Neaham Valley Youth Center	4,500
Relief Association	24,900
United Association	6,000
Pennsylvania United Fund	9,600
Quakertown Community Hospital	22,500
Welcome House	5,000
YMCA	18,000
YWCA	8,000
Family Service Association	17,000
Total	$194,465

A review of the campaign by Campaign Chairman, C. Burnley White, Cornwells Heights, shows that Upper Bucks County sector led the county, raising 165 per cent of its goal. Lower Bucks achieved 89 per cent while Central Bucks raised 50 per cent of its quota.

In order to plan ways and means of improving the next campaign, standing committees were appointed by Waterman to begin immediate action for the 1955 drive.

The committees are: Campaign — Robert Anderson, Morrisville; Ray Hartman, Quakertown; Mrs. Edward Linforth, Humesville; George Otto, Newtown; John Mason, Doylestown.

Formula — William Morlok, Newtown; Ed Boyle, Sellersville; Tom Brown, U. S. Steel, chairman; Harrison Erb, Perkasie; Miles Fisher, Quakertown; Carter Grant, Bristol; W. B. McCluer, Bristol; Abe Mitman, Quakertown; Charles Radcliffe, Doylestown; Lester Thorne, Bristol.

Publicity — Sherman Davis, Bristol; Jack Gill, Newtown; William Lynch, Doylestown; J. Paul Pedigo, Bristol.

TO PAY LIGHT BILLS
Residents of Crabtree Hollow, Levittown, will foot the bill for street lighting in their section effective yesterday. Originally the assessment was to go into effect last Dec. 7.

The driver, William Clouser, 41, of Shade lane, Drexel Hill, suffered a fractured jaw and a possible fractured skull, and his passenger Hugh A. Martin, 42, of 3728 Manyunk avenue, was treated for injuries of the lower jaw and lacerations of the face and shoulder. Both men were taken to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, by the Bucks County Rescue Squad.

Both Out
Officer Harvey Shaw said both men were unconscious when police arrived at the scene.

Five persons were hurt in a 3-car Bristol township traffic accident at Cedar avenue, Route 13.

Patrolman Richard Templeton and George Neill said a car operated by Edward Lemke, 18, of 34 Jersey avenue, Trenton, stopped for a light at the Cedar avenue, Route 13 intersection and was struck in the rear by a car driven by Edward A. Gannon, Jr., 28, 114 Champlott avenue, Philadelphia. Gannon's car was then hit in the rear by an automobile driven by Samuel

The meeting, which had been originally scheduled for the home of the president, Mrs. Pat Ehas, was changed to the center because of the increase in membership.

Three Die In Crashes At Start Of New Year

Position of Army On River Project Is Called 'Unfair'

Another voice has been raised in comment on the deepening of the Delaware river channel to a depth of 40 feet from the Philadelphia naval base to Trenton.

Harry G. Schad, president of the Philadelphia Maritime Exchange, attacked the present position of the United States Army Corps of Engineers, who have announced that the United States Steel Corp. or other local interests must contribute $15,000,000 towards the cost of the project.

Schad described the requirement that industry must pay half of the cost as "unprecedented."

Needs "Green Light"
He said that the channel deepening and other projects are "practically at a standstill" and must be given the "green light" by Congress and the proper governmental agencies and be "carried to an early and successful conclusion."

"It is apparent that everything possible is being done by local interests for the continued prosperity of this great metropolitan area. Industry has made large investments in various activities located along the banks of the Delaware River and in the hinterland, and it is inconceivable that full benefit from these investments should not be fully realized in the interest of the nation through failure of the federal government to provide funds."

He pointed out that the Maritime Exchange last summer urged Sen. Edward Martin (R., Pa.) that immediate action be taken on his bill which provides, at federal expense, a deep channel in the Delaware River above Philadelphia.

Repeat Congress Plea
Schad asserted that Congress again will be asked to take action on the bill and others pertaining to similar projects in the area when it convenes this month.

Schad blamed the stalemating of progress toward the further deepening of the Upper Delaware River channel at least partly on the attitude of the government.

"If the industrial development and advancement of the Delaware River Valley are to continue, all interests concerned, including those who represent this great metropolitan area in Congress, must realize that deep and adequate channels are the responsibility of the federal government and must be provided at its sole expense," he said.

Reserve Bank Quoted
"The Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, through its monthly publication Business Review, recently disclosed that manufacturing enterprises along the Delaware River spent $314,000,000 for plant expansion and new machinery last year," he added. "In 1954 they intend to enlarge and modernize still more and plans call for an increase of $58,000,000, or 18 per cent, making a total of $372,000,000, exclusive of the Fairless Works at Morrisville."

"The deepening of the channel

Crowns 36 Years In Sheriff's Office

DOYLESTOWN — Deputy Sheriff Pearl H. Smith, one of the best known and most efficient of Bucks County Courthouse officials, is retiring today after a career of more than a quarter of a century of service in the Sheriff's Office.

Deputy Sheriff Smith, who is Mrs. George R. Smith, 193 Decatur street, in private life, began her duties in 1927. She was appointed a Deputy sheriff in 1932 under Sheriff Horace E. Gwinner.

Served Six Sheriffs
Mrs. Smith served under six sheriffs during her 26 years of employment as one of the most important, busiest and most conscientious county officials. She enjoys the largest circle of friends among those who have had to deal with the Sheriff's Office of anyone in the courthouse.

For more than two decades it was "Pearl" as she was affectionately known by scores of lawyers and others. She "knew just what to do, when it should be done and how it should be done legally in her demanding and exacting job routine."

"Pearl" was guest of honor Wednesday at a farewell luncheon party given for her at the Water Wheel, Doylestown.

Many At Fete
Among those who fete here were Miss Dorothy H. Bethel, who is employed in the Sheriff's Office; Miss Kathryn M. Keller, Judge Edward G. Biester's secretary; Deputy Recorder of Deeds Gertrude H. Gulick, Chief Deputy Sheriff William B. Lang, Deputy Sheriffs Mellis R. Meyers, Loveland G. Harrison and Charles F. O'Brien, Probation Officer Horace E. Gwinner and Deputy Clerk of Orphans Court Joseph B. Keating.

"One of the biggest changes I have noticed while being here 26 years is the increasing number of attorneys and members of the Bucks County Bar," said the retiring deputy sheriff. "The last two or three years we have been getting more new attorneys than we used to get in five or ten years."

"Pearl" recalled nostalgically that she has served under six elected sheriffs, T. Hart Ross, Horace E. Gwinner, William L. Stackhouse

Woman Is Killed In Head-on Crash On Lincoln Hwy.

The new year started off in a grim note yesterday as three persons lost their lives and many others were injured in traffic accidents in this area.

The dead were:
Mrs. Claire Jennings, 24, of 1208 S. 5th street, Philadelphia, fatally injured in a head-on collision near the Langhorne Speedway, about two miles east of Pennell.

Mrs. Nettie Harrison, 36, of 21804 68th avenue, Bayside, Long Island, N.Y., killed in a collision at the Route 130 and Jones street intersection, Burlington, N.J.

Albert A. Neely, 66, of 2037 E. Fletcher street, Hatfield in a automobile and truck collision in Abington.

Police Chief Howard Shook, of Middletown township said that Mrs. Jennings, mother of a 5-year old daughter, was a passenger in the car of Marine Sgt. Charles A. Miller.

Hits Head-On
Miller was driving west on Route 1 and collided head-on into a car driven by Jack A. Matteo, of Westmont avenue, Collingsdale. Miller's car drifted across traffic lanes and crashed into Matteo's car who was traveling east on the inside lane of the Lincoln Highway.

Squadmen of the Bucks County and Trevese Heights Rescue Squads rushed to the scene and took the injured to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N.J. Mrs. Jennings died enroute.

Hospital physicians said that Miller's condition was serious. He suffered a fractured skull, internal injuries and lacerations of the face.

Matteo was treated for a fractured pelvis and internal injuries.

Paul DiGrigorio, 17, of 219 Rhodes avenue, Collingdale, a passenger in Matteo's car, suffered a broken rib and bruises of the face.

Transferred
Late yesterday afternoon Miller was transferred from Mercer Hospital to Naval Hospital, Philadelphia. Hospital physicians said Miller's condition was critical.

One man was killed and six other persons were injured yesterday when a light truck and an automobile collided at an intersection in Abington township.

The victim, Albert Neely, 66, was riding in the truck with his son, Charles, 28, and daughter-in-law, 25, of Hatfield, who were injured.

The four occupants of the automobile taken to Abington Memorial Hospital were Vincent Smith, 28, his wife, Mary, 26, of 11th street near Thompson, Philadelphia, and Willard Turner, and his wife, Ella, 35, of 2525 W. Dakota street, Philadelphia.

Woman Killed
A Long Island woman, returning home after watching the Mummers Parade in Philadelphia was killed at 5:15 p. m. yesterday in an automobile crash in Burlington, N.J.

Mrs. Harrison and her son, Paul, 7, were hurled from the car, police said. The boy suffered a possible fractured left leg and internal injuries.

Patrolman William Norcross, of Burlington, said that Mrs. Harrison was a passenger in a car driven by Walter Sawits, 48, of Grand view drive, Paterson, N.J., which collided with another vehicle operated by Anthony Buccigrossi, 38, of 14th street, Burlington.

Dr. Arnold Harrison, husband of the victim, and another son, Lynn, 4, received cuts and bruises. Sawits, his wife Marie, 39, and daughter, Jean, 10, were cut and bruised. Mrs. Sally Dilks, 62, of 353 E. Pear street, Burlington, a passenger in the Buccigrossi car, was slightly injured.

TIP TO HOUSEWIVES: TRY ROAST BEEF RARE

WASHINGTON—INS — A wise and economical New Year's resolution for the housewife might be to feed her family rare roast beef during 1954.

Agricultural economists stress beef should not be overcooked because every extra five minutes of cooking evaporates about one cent's worth of servable meat for every pound of the roast.

Thus the housewife who overcooks a five pound beef roast five minutes is wasting five cents.

Falls Township School Authority To Seek Bids For Two Buildings

The Falls Township School Authority today announced advertisement of bids for construction of an elementary school and a junior high school at a total cost of $3,400,000.

John M. Custer, authority secretary, said the bids for the Penn Manor Elementary School, which will be built near Thornridge drive and Penn Valley road, Levittown, will be opened at 8 p. m. Feb. 11 in the Fallsington Elementary School.

Bids for the William Penn Junior High School, to be built on the west side of Emilie-Fallsington road at Olds boulevard between Levittown and Fairless Hills, will be opened at 8 p. m. Feb. 25 at the Fallsington school.

Custer said it was hoped construction may begin in the early spring. The elementary school may be completed 10 months after ground is broken and the junior high school within two years.

Albert McCabe, treasurer of the Authority, was reappointed to a new five-year term by the Falls Township School Board. Regular elections will be held at the March meeting.

EXPANSION PROGRAM

Middletown Township Turns Eyes On Water, Sewage Needs

Middletown Township Supervisors plan to meet to discuss the possibility of setting up a water and sewage system for the Levittown expansion in the township. Date for the meeting has not been set. The area of the Levittown expansion consists of 2,000 acres between Route 1 and Newportville road. Levitt and Sons, Inc., plan to build about 5,000 homes there.

Raymond H. Secules, township secretary, said the supervisors may petition Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority for admission. Secules said representatives of the Levitt firm would be asked to meet with supervisors to discuss building water and sewage problems in the area.

If Middletown Township should be admitted to the Joint Authority, the Municipal Authority of Middletown would still have jurisdiction over all the territory of the township, excluding the Levittown area, according to Secules.

WOMEN'S CLUB WILL HEAR LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT
Jeffrey Radley, Levittown landscape architect, will speak to the Red Cedar Hill Women's Club of Levittown at their second meeting. The club will meet at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday in the auditorium of the William Penn Center, Fallsington. The meeting, which had been originally scheduled for the home of the president, Mrs. Pat Ehas, was changed to the center because of the increase in membership.

Designate Week of Prayer For Newtown Churches

The first week in January has been designated as the Week of Prayer in the Newtown area, under the sponsorship of the Newtown Council of Churches and Meetings and the National Council of Churches.

Monday will be a day for individual prayer. Tuesday has been chosen as the day to emphasize prayer in the family circle. On Wednesday, those churches that wish will hold prayer meetings in their individual churches.

The Newtown Methodist Church will hold a half-hour prayer service before its official board meeting on Wednesday night.

Cottage Meetings
Thursday is the day for cottage prayer meetings, or groups meeting for prayer services in the homes.

A union prayer service will be held at 8 p. m. on Friday night at the Addisville Reformed Church, Richboro. All pastors will urge their congregations to attend.

The service will be under the direction of the Rev. Timothy A. Cramer, pastor of the Richboro church. Rev. Cramer has announced that it will be an "informal service," with every attempt made to encourage participation by the congregation.

Songs in Keeping
"It will be a service of prayer and praise," he said. There will be congregational singing in keeping with the theme of the service.

Churches that are members of the council and who will participate in the week of prayer are Newtown Presbyterian, St. Luke's Episcopal, Newtown Methodist, Macedonia Baptist, St. Mark's African Methodist Episcopal, Addisville Reformed Church and the Newtown Friends Meeting.

Dr. Walter Mohr of the Friends Meeting is chairman of the council.

Benjamin Franklin was the publisher of the Philadelphia Zeitung, which in 1732 was the first foreign-language newspaper in the American colonies.

Champer, 52, of 219 Washington street, Bristol.

Taken to Hospital
Taken to Bristol General Hospital were Joseph Landman, 21, of 618 Pine street, Bristol, a passenger in Lemke's car, back injuries; Champer, injuries of the right shoulder and right knee bruises; Anna Mazzari, 43, of Beaver street, Bristol, bruises of right knee and scalp; Mrs. Bertha Leichter, 46, of 65 Nesting Rock lane, Levittown, chest and leg injuries; and Louis Koontz, 46, of Morrisville, RD 1, head injuries. The last three were passengers in Champer's car.

A woman was injured yesterday in another three-car accident at the Bellevue avenue and U. S. Route 1 intersection, in Pennel. State troopers William Thomas and Keith Dane said one driver, a Leroy Ardis, 26, of Bellevue avenue, Hulmeville will receive a summons for reckless driving.

The Ardis car approached a traffic light and crashed into the rear of a car driven by Clarence T. Hise, of 248 Lafayette street, Trenton. Hise's car crashed into the rear of an automobile driven by Steven Szobla, of 708 Catherine street, Perth Amboy.

The injured woman, Mariline Hurn, of 405 Austin drive, Fairless Hills, was taken to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, where she was treated for lacerations of the face and a sprained ankle.

On New Year's eve Wilson Francis, 33, of 231 Bloomsbury street, Trenton, N. J., was arrested on a charge of drunken driving by Falls township police. At a hearing before Justice of the Peace Elwood Fritz, Francis was held for court under $500 bail.

Francis G. Myers, Raymond C. Ahlum and Harry H. Ross, present outgoing sheriff who is confined to his Churchville home because of illness.

Began With One Deputy
When she began her court house career there was sheriff and one deputy sheriff performing the duties of the office. Now there is a sheriff and four men and a woman as deputies.

A past president of the Soroptimist Club of Bucks County, Deputy Sheriff Smith always has been active as a Republican and in various civic projects.

Mrs. Smith began her duties while Sheriff Abraham Kulp was in office and Judge William C. Ryan was Bucks County's sole jurist. Now there are three jurists, President Judge Hiram H. Keller and Judges Edward G. Biester and Edwin H. Satterthwaite.

Because of her background and experience in handling Sheriff's Office duties, Mrs. Smith was regarded as the "dean of women" in county management and business in "Row" office circles and commanded the respect of scores of younger employees because of her loyalty and untiring efforts to deal with the public courteously and competently.

She received a scarab bracelet as a gift from her friends.

could take a decade or longer to realize if not soon given complete official approval by the federal government," he said. "All have been making every effort since 1950 to make headway, but at the close of 1953, little progress has been made."

For comparison, we might state, he said, that it took 25 years to have the federal government improve the channel in the Delaware River from 30 feet to 35 feet from Allegheny avenue, Philadelphia, to Delaware Bay and approximately another five years to have the depth increased to 40 feet from the Philadelphia Naval Base to deep water in the Delaware Bay.

Study Urged

Schad said the Exchange recommended to the Delaware River Port Authority that it inaugurate an exhaustive study, including cost and engineering estimates of various types of port terminals and other facilities necessary to adequately accommodate the needs of increased waterborne commerce.

county. All of which makes everything so convenient for Levitt's law firm.

"However, all of this would be of no importance so long as Neal is not appointed solicitor."

Key Position

"The solicitor is appointed to a key position in the interpretation of, and advising on our township laws. In this case the citizens could not feel they were receiving the high standards of loyalty expected from a public servant—No man can serve two masters."

When Nathan was asked to comment on his letter, he said, "there are political low tones involving next year's gubernatorial election—I do not wish to discuss it at this time, however."

THE HANDY HOMERS

Foresee Million New Homes, Drop In 1954 Building Costs

WASHINGTON — (INS) — American builders will produce about one million new houses and apartments in 1954, a year in which the industry is expected to offer the best housing values in more than a decade.

This is the consensus of top industry and government experts as the nation winds up the third best housing year in history with all signs pointing to near-record output in 1954.

Most housing economists are looking for a slight decline in output in the new year but many believe the extent of the drop will depend on the industry's effort to step up its own sales campaigns.

Wait the Message
Another major factor will be the housing program President Eisenhower outlines next week in his state of the union message to Congress. The Chief Executive is expected to map a program based on a minimum construction rate of one million dwellings a year.

In 1953, the housing industry turned out about 1,100,000 started in 1952 and the record-breaking 1,396,000 registered in 1950.

Some economists believe output in the new year will drop about 50,000 units to a level just above the one million mark. But there are other estimates varying from the 950,000 dwellings predicted by the National Savings and Loan League to the 1,100,000 forecast by the National Association of Home Builders.

Costs May Decline

The saving league says it expects slight declines in the cost of construction materials and warns that "increasing competition among builders may cut profit margins," meaning lower prices.

For these reasons, the league says the potential home buyer this year will find the market "more attractive" and will get "more house for the same money or the same house for less money."

Home Builders President Emanuel M. Spiegel says: "The typical 1954 home, even in the modest price ranges, will provide substantially more living area than at any time in the post-war period, and many will have one-and-a-half or even two baths for moderate-income families."

More Bedrooms

Spiegel figures three out of every four new homes will contain three or more bedrooms and the General Electric Co. estimates the use of home air conditioning units will more than double from 50,000 in 1953 to 120,000 in the new year.

This past year, the housing industry weathered one of its most serious economic storms since World War II—the nationwide shortage of investment money for mortgage loans.

The storm which seriously curtailed home building operations has now abated and there are good indications it will not be repeated in 1954. In fact, the outlook is for increasing supplies of mortgage funds unless there is a radical change in government policy.

Realizing this, builders are unanimous in their determination to attract new buyers and keep rolling a housing boom that has resulted in construction of nearly 8.5 million homes since 1946.

PHILADELPHIA ADDS 10,000 DWELLING UNITS

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — The Philadelphia Housing Association reported today that 10,000 dwelling units were added in Philadelphia during 1953, with much of the net gain credited to apartment construction and conversion of single homes.

The association said the present dwelling supply consists of some 645,000 houses and apartments, an increase of about 45,000 over the 1950 census.

The first New England newspaper to be firmly established outside of Boston was the Connecticut Gazette of New Haven, founded in 1755 by James Parker, an associate of Benjamin Franklin.

PAINT INDUSTRY LOOKS BACK ON A GOOD YEAR

CHICAGO — (INS) — The year 1953 will go down in the records as one of the biggest ever for the paint industry.

Manufacturers credit the huge paint sales to two factors: the growing "do-it-yourself" market, and the introduction of the paint roller. The paint manufacturers expect business to be just as good, or even better, in 1954.

CHAIN REACTION

People Like To Do Things Themselves; Spend Over 3 Billions To Prove It

OAKLAND, Calif. — (INS) — You family will spend $175 next year for paint, nails, wood, tools and equipment that will enable you to smear your hair with paint, bang your fingernails with a hammer and saw the corner off the kitchen chair.

But, once the initial accidents of the newcomer to a trade are out of the way, your family will wind up with workmanlike repairs, new furniture and a saving of several hundred dollars.

This is the magic that has turned the "Do-It-Yourself" idea into a $3,500,000,000 yearly business.

It's a business big enough to have "Do-It-Yourself" expositions that pack people into metropolitan auditoriums. In California, for example, a total of 182,000 persons attended the "Do-It-Yourself" Exposition in Los Angeles and the Oakland exposition drew more than 100,000 visitors from the San Francisco Bay area.

The exhibits are unique—manufacturers show you in their booths how to do it and what to do with. The process of "Do-It-Yourself" is a chain reaction one. First the householder buys lumber, wallboard and paint. He must have tools. He borrows them from a neighbor first, tires of that and buys his own. When he has finished the woodwork on his first job, he must buy sandpaper, then paint, varnish and brushes.

This widens the circle. He takes bows for his work, realizes what he has saved, and is encouraged to do and build more and more. The more he does, the better he gets. He branches out into power saws and a complete home workshop.

Industry spokesmen claim there are 20,000,000 "Do-It-Yourself" families in the United States, and it is their estimate that each will spend an average of $175 a year on tools, equipment and material.

Dusting Off The News

By CHARLES O. MOLZ

While the week after Christmas had to be set aside for exchanging gifts, the next few days will be a profitable time for straightening out the mixup in coats and hats from New Year's Eve.

Mrs. Nickelpuss says she is glad to have the youngsters home from school for the holidays, but she can't for the life of her remember what they did last summer that didn't annoy her so much as the things they do now.

Having had no experience with anything except what our reporters call a pea-soup fog, we always shudder at stepping out some morning to find it has changed to chicken noodle.

The price of a marriage license has gone up fifty cents. Even at $3.50 it looks like a bargain, as with things the way they are where can you buy so much trouble at such a cheap price!

A soft drink concessionaire in Treviso is being taken into court on charges that he doesn't have a manufacturer's license. We went right home and looked up our elder barber for fear that someone would say we had an atomic power project at work in the basement.

Maybe, after all, says Willie Nilly, Levittown is the dreamland that the writers describe. It has a place where you can park illegally and not get a ticket.

A Democrat in Levittown thinks the Bucks County Prison is run like a country club. Quite a few people who have memberships here and you may hold up their 1954 dues until they find out about the Doylestown menu, as you know how bad the food is where they belong.

Lazy Louie says the New Year's morning was such a fine, sunny day it was too bad people couldn't have rolled up the blinds and with the help of a few eye drops got a look at things.

Uncle Ezra and Aunt Abbie came over from Newtown the other day and were right glad to see the funeral home they visited had taken down the Esquire calendar and replaced it with one showing the Yosemite Valley.

Place Names In Bucks County

Excerpts from the book of that name, published by The Bucks County Historical Society, an historical narrative compiled by the late George MacKenzie, librarian of that society, and copyrighted in 1942.

IVYLAND

Borough incorporated Dec. 8, 1903, and erected from part of Warminster Township, near the Warminster-Northampton Township line. The town was laid out in the 1870's by Edwin Lacey, of Wrightstown. Lacey was tall, angular and red-haired, with a pleasant voice which he could use upon occasion with persuasive effort. His plans for Ivyland were ambitious — a town laid out in squares, streets crossing at right angles, with horse cars "traversing the leading avenues on railway tracks and large business houses and industrial plants at eligible locations. He first built a big hotel with a French roof, an architectural style quite popular at the time. A two-story porch surrounded it on all four sides. The building remained untenanted for 20 years or more. The first street laid out was Gough Avenue, named for John G. Gough, the temperance lecturer. Bennett Carrell built the first houses on Gough Avenue. One of these was used as a general store, with dwelling attached. It was separated from the hotel by ground sufficient for a proposed street. The store was run by William Carr in the 1880's and for some years later. Carr was appointed first postmaster Oct. 26, 1889. While Lacey's municipal dreams were never realized, he nevertheless anticipated the coming of the railroad and gave impetus to what has since become a thriving, well-planned business town. The prime mover in bringing the Northeast Pennsylvania Railroad to what is now Ivyland was Samuel Davis, whose father, Seth Davis, had moved from Dillington to Warminster in 1840. At Seth Davis' death two-thirds of his farm went to his son Samuel and the remaining third to his son Jonathan. The railroad runs on the southeastern edge of the Samuel Davis farm for over half of the distance from Johnsville station to Ivyland. For most of this distance a heavy fill was required, together with a bridge to carry the tracks over a stream. Samuel Davis quarried the stone for the bridge, supplied horses and carts for the grading and boarded the construction gang while it worked on the

Brennan Demand For Prison Probe Draws Only Scoffs

Democratic Commissioner John T. Welsh of Doylestown today doubted that anything would come of an investigation demanded by A. Patrick Brennan, Levittown Democratic leader, into the operation of the Bucks County Prison.

Brennan said Democrats would ask the county grand jury, which convenes Jan. 11, to find out why three prisoners were able to escape Christmas night.

The Levittown Democrat charged the prison is "run like a country club."

"I don't believe anything will come of this," he said.

Ernest H. Harvey, secretary to the board of County Commissioners, said:

"This man Brennan should read the Bucks County grand jury reports submitted during the regime of Warden Earl Handy, dating back to January of 1941."

Harvey indicated the reports contained praise and commendation of Handy for the operation of the prison.

Leedom's Pin Team Scores First Half Victory In Federal

Aided by 11th place Bunting Transfer, Leedom's bowlers regained first place this week in the Federal Bowling League of Bristol as the first half came to a close.

Leedom's finished its schedule for the round with 43 triumphs against 25 defeats when it defeated Erwin's Engineers, 3-1. Meanwhile, Richman, which had reigned in first place for a week, took a 3-1 beating at Bunting's hands and fell a game and a half behind the leader.

Russo of K. M. P. 120 had the best individual marks for the night with a 220 single game and a three-game high of 570.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR—By Alan Mayer

AUGUST

Bowe Buys R-H Five In LBCAC Title Race

At least one Lower Bucks County Athletic Conference basketball entry will move into the last two-thirds of the campaign this month with a virtual guarantee that 1954 will be more prosperous than 1953.

The team is Rohm and Haas, a slow starter that finished the first round in an ignominious fifth place on a mark of two wins in four starts.

In spite of those uncomplimentary figures, there are some observers who figure the Chemicalmen could go all the way to the league title between now and the end of March. This sort of thinking was encouraged Dec. 20 when R&H prematurely opened its second round with a startling 80-78 victory over Franklin A.C. in the year's prime upset.

That win, which reversed a 101-56 opening day Franklin victory, was a monument to the inspirational leadership of a single player. The player, Hugh Bowe, voted outstanding performer in the now defunct Bristol Industrial League while playing with R&H last year, had made his 1953-54 debut in that contest. He is expected to be a fixture with the Chemicalmen the rest of the way.

A strong rebounder, good scorer and cool customer in the clutch, Bowe apparently has given the Chemicalmen the coordination they needed. The team already had veteran performers in Pat Carnavale and Toby Oriola, scoring punch in Walter Zook and Bill Butz and backboard potential in Wilbur Phillips.

Zook has been the chief scorer with 111 points for five games, including a 44-point performance against Bensalem Alumni on Dec. 10. Butz, a sureshot at the foul line, is second among the Chemicalmen with 91 for seven games and rates among the top ten in the LBCAC. Others who have scored well include Oriola whose 68 includes a 28-point production against Morrisville; Carnavale, the setshot virtuoso who "ad 17 of his 51 markers in a blistering exhibition against Franklin; and Phillips with 46.

Freeing its personnel for combat has been an R&H problem that may or may not iron itself out this month. The team had the services of tall Aldridge Everett for only one game in the first round and for a single quarter against Franklin

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. R. L. Carlson
Pastor
Harriman Methodist Church

Thine, O Lord, are the times we measure off by days and years, for though the years pass, yet are we ever with thee, embosomed in thy beauty, love and power. May the dawning year be new indeed, with new visions of truth, a new wonder of thy love, and a new service to our fellow man. May our home be better ordered, our work better done, and our faith more firmly fixed in thee, that life may show us its worth and wonder, in Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Laugh And Be Gay And Stop Suffering

Love has the strangest effect on some girls. Suddenly a boy becomes magic—and she dissolves. Her turn-of-mind, her heart leaps out of her, her knees clack like castanets, and her wits go out the window. Love violently upsets her equilibrium.

Too bad it should make so many girls so sick. Love is dazzle and sparkle, stepped-up steam and a quickened pulse. It is gentle smiles and rippling laughter. It is warmth and sheer delight.

But to some girls it is sheer torture. Uncertainty can make it that way—self-consciousness and doubt can douse the twinkle.

It's fun to love. It's silly to suffer over it like this girl is doing. She writes:

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD:

My boy friend and I are both 15, and we're among the top in our respective schools. He goes away to school—and that's the cause of my miseries. I couldn't quit school for anything for it means too much to my family and me, but I am so in love with him and I miss him so much that I must be with him! Should I quit school—go to him, or continue as I am, losing weight and not being able to study because my mind wanders from my books to thoughts of the two of us being together. What can I possibly do?"

You're gone completely overboard—it's time you get yourself back in the boat! Liking a boy when you're 15 is the icing on the cake. It's an ornamental, decorative, interesting accessory to the main plot. It's not the whole of life as you're letting it be.

You're living on a dream. So, small wonder you're losing weight! It's a dream that you could quit school now when you're so much learning ahead of you to do. A dream that you could join him. What would you both do when you got there? He has to go to school; he can't quit just like that, get a job and start supporting you.

So what can you possibly do? Cogitate on the words "self-discipline." Organize your scattered wits and put your A-type mind to work making yourself the line. Pull your wool-gathering thoughts back to the job at hand, rudely and ruthlessly. Ration yourself just enough time in one day to write to him—and spend the rest on activities that will use all of your energy, your concentration and your imagination.

You can cure yourself of the miseries by changing your diet. Treat yourself to hard laughter with your friends. Get your hands really dirty at some worthwhile job. Lavish your imagination on things artistic—the class play, your music lessons, your art course, even your family's menus. Fill your days to the brim with stuff and nonsense—then you won't have time for strength for baying at the moon!

You're Thwarted

You'd think it mighty silly of an old hound dog to keep barking up a tree from which the coon had long since fled. Yet how many of you make yourselves miserable hankering after a boy who doesn't give a hoot for you. Why, it isn't even realistic. But listen to what this girl has to say.

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD: I have liked him for two solid years. At first it didn't matter that he didn't like me—but at this point I'm unbearable—it's absolutely impossible to get along with me! I dream about him all the time. I see him every day in school and I have to make something out of every little thing he says to me. Which isn't much 'cause he hardly ever speaks to me. I don't want to like him so much, but I can't stop!"

You can so—yes indeed you can. A girl has to look out for her own tender feelings. And what earthly good has this wild passion of yours ever done you? Well, unless you're self on him—that's what you'd better do. Take off those rose-colored specs of yours and list all his faults. To be in with him, he doesn't know a good thing when he sees one. Maybe he talks too loud, wears the wrong ties, forgets to keep his hair cut, is a dunce at math. You can find a flock of flaws if you look for them—then you can convince yourself they're frightfully important. Enough to put you off him for life.

From then on you won't notice him in class. You won't follow him around. You won't be so everlastingly aware of him. He'll be easier to forget!

Reset Your Sights

Time and again a girl will reach for the stars—aiming so high she teeters off balance and falls in a heap. It's what happens when a girl who hasn't done much dating falls for a smooth older boy who's been around a lot. Then she gets the quivers as this girl does.

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD: I'm 14 and I'm crazy about a boy who has the strangest effect on me. He's 19 and I see him at the Canteen dances. He acts friendly, but when I see him I get so nervous my knees shake. I feel all selfish and mad when he dances with other girls. What's the matter with me?"

Why you're very much attracted to an attractive older boy and terrified that he won't find you attractive. You're not sure what to talk to him about, or how to act, and you're sunk in very unfavorable comparisons of yourself with older girls. If you were gay and lively, friendly and happy-looking, he might give you a better break. You'd give yourself a better break if you'd like a boy your own age with whom you could be comfy and at ease.

Your Birthday II

SATURDAY, JANUARY 2—Born today, you have one of those gay, charming personalities which draw friends to you like a magnet. In fact, you have so many friends, that you may have difficulty in settling down to make a choice of any one, special person with whom you feel you would enjoy spending the rest of your life. You are a little inclined to confuse infatuation with love and must be careful that you make the right choice of a marriage partner the first time or you may want to make a change, later on.

You are a good manager and a born executive. You know exactly how to get others to do the work you especially dislike doing yourself. You are a person of moods—some of them quite unpredictable. You are one thing one day and something else the next. Learn to understand your own self and others will understand you better, too!

You are willing to work hard if you can see material gains as a quick reward. You are not the type to end up poor. You like money for what it can buy—and you like everything that can be bought! If your own profession or career does not bring the rewards which you believe are commensurate with your effort, you will probably try to make money. You believe it is just as easy—and more "lasting"—to fall in love with someone who is rich as someone who is poor!

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, January 3

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Church affairs should go well with you, but be discreet in making plans for too much expansion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Put on your best bib and tucker to make a good impression. A conference today may decide your future.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—If faced with a rugged job, you can finish it on schedule if you roll up your sleeves and go to work.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—An unexpected conference with an old friend you have not seen for some time may bring about exciting results.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—If you have been away over the Christmas holidays, you will find returning home to work is good, too.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Don't fall too seriously for some hard luck yarn spun by a stranger. You could get fooled! Be wary!

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Don't attempt to play cupid when it comes to arranging someone else's romance. Stay neutral.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Perhaps a loved one has a birthday or an anniversary. See that you remember it with a fitting gift.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—If you have been making plans for the future, now is the time to be definite and specific about them.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—You should be feeling very fine these days and really should be kicking almost any kind of a tough job.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—If there are minor problems rearing their heads about the calm, you should find it easy to solve them now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—If there seems to be a lot of work to be done, you can breeze on a rigid schedule and complete it.

SUNDAY, JANUARY 3—Born today, you are so versatile that you are apt to have too many projects working at once, the net result being that nothing is brought to a really successful conclusion.

You have a jolly, happy-go-lucky nature which dislikes the serious detail of life which you will manage to sidestep, whenever you can. And, since you have a great deal of personal magnetism and charm you are usually able to find someone to do all of those things that have to be done, but which you so much dislike. You know how to delegate jobs!

You have a great deal of vitality and are a born leader. You just naturally step into the center of things and start "bossing" just as naturally as some other people fall in line and march along behind, happy to be led! You rise to any challenge. Just let someone say a thing can't be done, and you will step right out and work exceptionally hard to prove that you can do it.

There is a deeply spiritual side to your nature which may not be so evident during the early part of your life but which will deepen as you grow older. If you live in a small community, you will probably become the leading light in your church or neighborhood activities. You are an inveterate "joiner" and can be depended upon to make any committee you join function effectively.

Supply of Spoons Runs Out; Babies Still Get Theirs

As nearly as THE BRISTOL DAILY COURIER can tell, babies are still being born in Lower Bucks County.

In fact they have been born so rapidly that the COURIER'S supply of baby spoons was exhausted a few weeks ago and had to be renewed. THE COURIER has been presenting baby spoons to mothers who have had babies between Sept. 30 and tonight at midnight, and who have reported the births to the COURIER. The presentations will end tonight.

Robert Bennett, of the COURIER advertising staff, in charge of the presentations, reports that 33 spoons have been presented to mothers of newborn babies. In addition, presentations were made to two sets of twins. In each case the mother received two spoons and two fork and spoon educator sets. The silverware was donated by the Eastern Sales and Advertising Co., of Philadelphia.

Behind the Scene—at The Firehouse—24-Hour Watch Guards Lives, Property

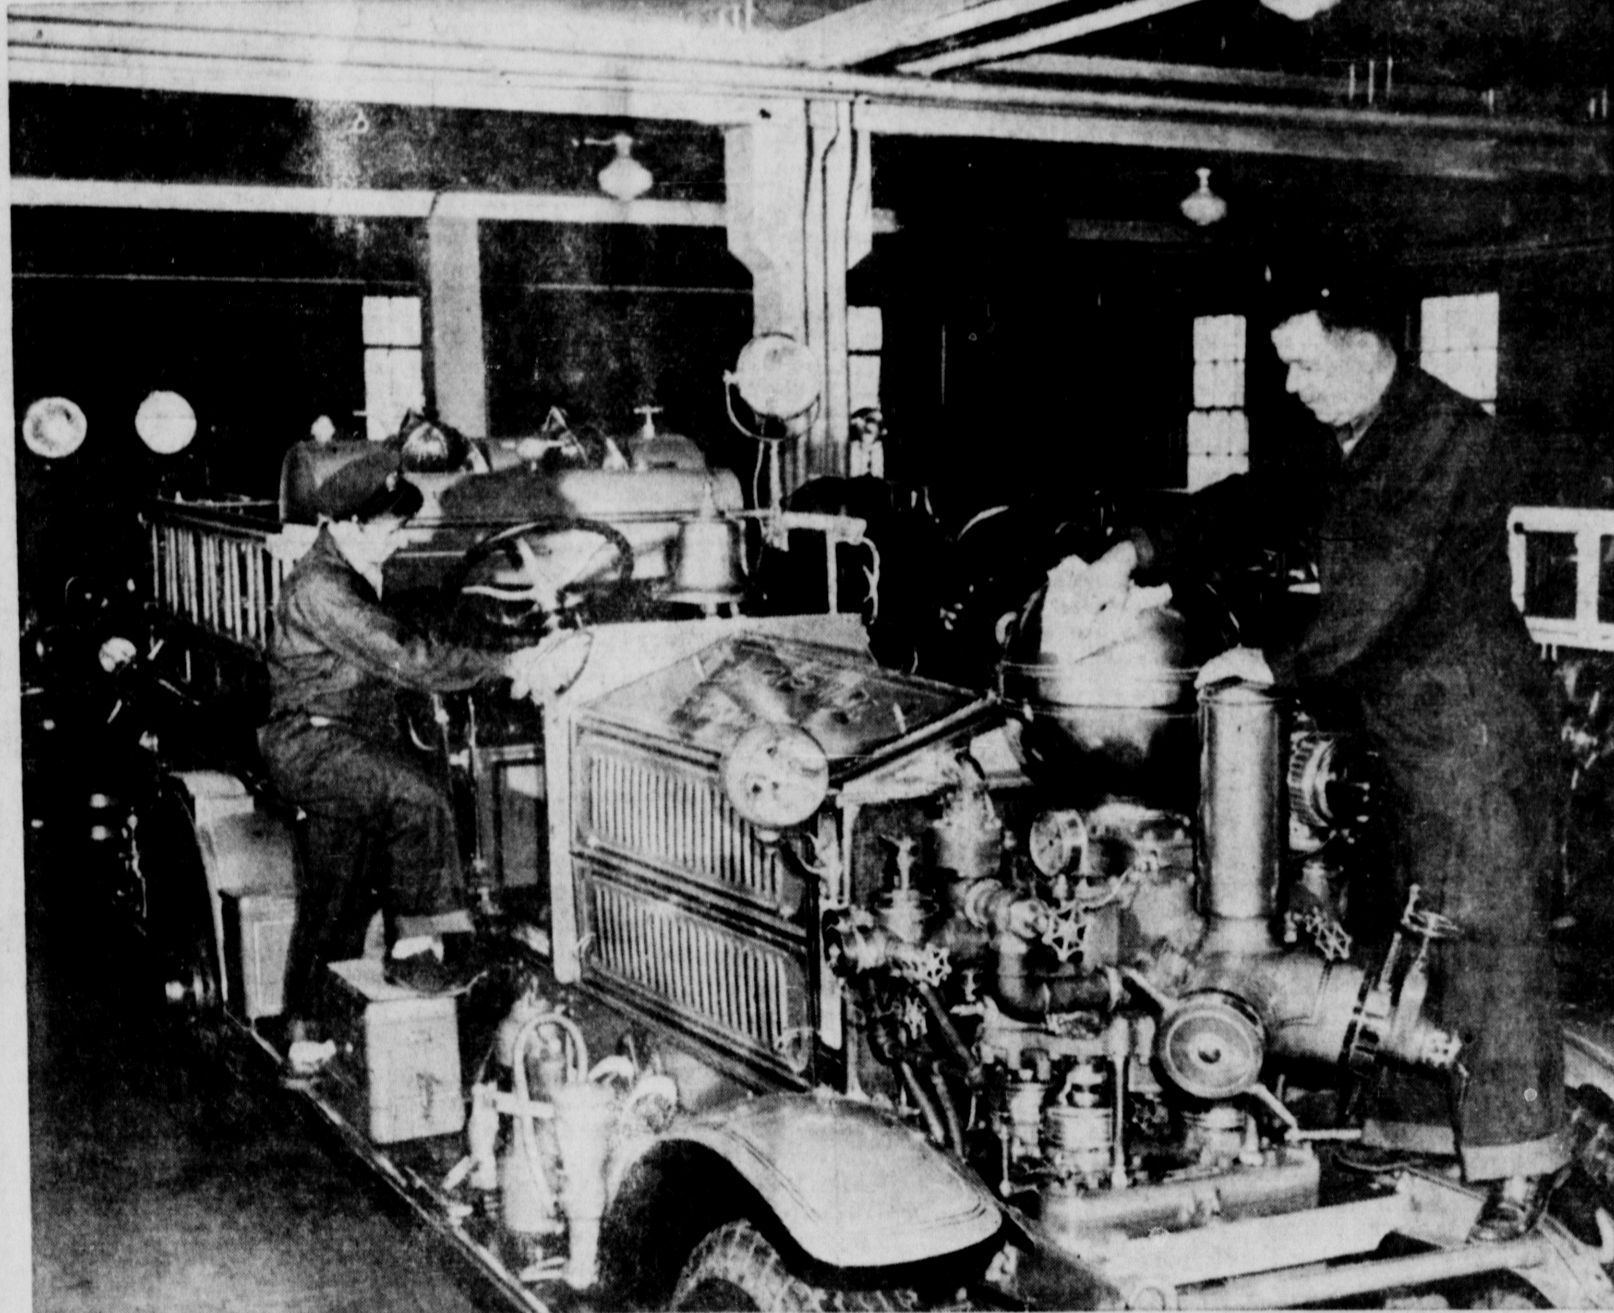

BRISTOL BOROUGH FIREMEN are constantly on the alert to protect the lives and property of residents. Here Alfred Bobbs, Bristol Consolidated Fire Department, checks punched tape, which tells the firemen the location of a fire. Each time an alarm sounds the location of the fire box is recorded on the tape. Bobbs then chalks the location of the blaze on a blackboard while other firemen ready the trucks to speed to the blaze.

OFF THEY GO—As the claxon sounds its raucous blast to arouse other borough firemen, Consolidated firemen pile onto a pumper to speed off to the fire. Speed is what counts. Underwriters statistics show that if the fire department arrives within the first four minutes after an alarm is sounded only a minimum of damage will be done by the blaze.

SOMETIMES IT'S JUST ROUTINE—A fireman's work is not all excitement. Much of it is just routine. High pressure fire hose must be dried out each time it is used to prevent rotting. Here Fireman Paul Crowley, 573 Bath street, performs the routine but necessary job. The hose is then stacked or placed back aboard the truck for future use.

SAILORS AND FIREMEN always have to brighten up the brass. Bobbs and Vito Favoroso, 1020 Beaver street, are shown putting the last gleaming touches on the pumper following its return from a blaze. Well functioning equipment requires almost care in maintenance, and firemen spend much of their time taking care of the precision machinery.

Pacing The Labor Beat

With The Labor Editor

News of local unions and their members will be welcomed by the COURIER. Address all communications to the Labor Editor, The BRISTOL COURIER, Bristol, Penna.

A 10-day truce in strike plans by the International Longshoremen's Association expires at midnight tonight, but there are no indications that an organized walkout in the Port of New York will be called at that time.

However, three small locals of the ILA threaten a walkout next week. The locals, involving about 450 men are the weighers, scalemen and samplers who weigh most of the bulk and bagged cargo entering the port.

In an effort to iron out the recent tangled NLRB election between the ILA and the new dock workers union of the AFL, board members will meet with counsel of both unions today to discuss 4405 challenged ballots.

The Oil Workers International Union, CIO, will meet with independent oil union leaders in Philadelphia on Feb. 15 to look into the possibility of forming a new international union through merger.

Attending the conference will be the three international officers of the union, the eight members of the executive council, the eight-man policy committee, eight additional rank and file delegates and the eight district directors.

The Sheboygan, Wis. public school system faces a threatened strike Monday of 300 teachers and supervisory personnel who belong to an AFL teachers union unless talks about a pay increase are held before then.

School directors said the school district did not have enough money to warrant pay increases. They urged teachers to stay on the job and "give us time to figure something out."

A rise in unemployment in California, the West Coast's leading industrial state, was forecast for the next fiscal year beginning July 1. Researchers for the State Department of Employment there expected unemployment to rise to 4.7 percent. At present 3 percent or some 151,000 persons are jobless there.

Seasonal layoffs in farming and food processing work, cutbacks in aircraft production and an increasing population were cited as factors in the increasing unemployment figures.

On the other side of the continent in Boston, regional economists said New England must provide 15,000 new jobs a year to keep pace with the normal growth of the area's labor force.

Economists urged "research mindedness" by management if the region is to maintain and improve its industrial position.

Elizabeth, La. marked the beginning of the New Year with its 138th act of violence in the 16-month-old strike at the two paper mills owned by the Southern Industries Inc. when a pickup truck belonging to a worker was burned.

The strike began Sept. 13, 1952 in a dispute over a work contract. The mills opened a month later with non-union workers and have maintained production ever since. The strikers are represented by the International Brotherhood of Papermakers.

A Quick Look: Seven thousand more New Jersey public employees previously without pension or retirement - protection, have been brought under Social Security. . . . California labor unions added about 75,000 new members in 1953, a five percent increase to a record 1,578,900 members.

3 - D Craze In Comic Book Field On Way Out; High Prices, Eye Troubles Blamed by Dealers

They Jump Rite At You!

3-D COMIC BOOKS may be on the way out because of lack of customers and high prices, but you can't tell that to Ascanio Grimaldi, 423 Second avenue, Bristol. He'll be reading them as long as they're around. Local dealers, however, don't think the books will last much longer.

The fate of the 3-D comic book, which was so enormously popular when it first hit the news stands in September, is now no laughing matter.

"The first month they were on sale the children couldn't get enough of them," the Bristol News Agency reports, "but now they hardly sell at all. In fact, we only keep a few of each different title in stock."

When the 3-D craze hit the comic book field, on the heels of the same craze in the movies, more than 100,000 copies of about 25 different titles were placed by distributors at news and magazine stands.

Don't Like Glasses But the children, as well as the adults, have become "disenchanted" with the added dimension, and with looking at both their movies and their comic books with red and green colored glasses.

The youngsters look over the array of comic books and invariably walk away with the old two-dimensional styles with which they are more familiar.

At the local agency, the comics range through all of the children's picture which somehow were printed incorrectly.

and weird stories. Even pin-up girls can be viewed with the use of the glasses which are attached to the inside of the magazine itself—but this market, of course, is more for Dad.

But because of the little demand for the books, the news agency feels the 3-D magazines may not stay on sale long. Behind that prediction are several factors.

In the first place, a child's attention span is rather limited. A child may be intrigued for a time with holding the cardboard spectacles in order to read, but he soon tires of that and reverts to the older style which requires no aids. The second factor is cost.

Cost High "The youngsters are interested in quantity, not quality," the Bristol News Agency observed. The cost of the 3-D books is 25c; the regular comic book is usually 10c. The higher selling price of the former is due to the fact that it is more costly to issue.

Production difficulties on the 3-D books also are obvious in some copies where the glasses required for bringing the figures into focus must be reversed for two or three picture which somehow were printed incorrectly.

Borough Workers Now Blanketed By Social Security

Effective yesterday, 45 Bristol Borough employees came under coverage of social security. The police, who have their own pension system, are not included in the program.

The program is retroactive to July 1, 1953. According to the ordinance, the borough will withhold a certain percentage of the employee's wages up to $2,500. The borough will then duplicate the amount withheld and it will be sent through the state to federal social security authorities. The borough will pay the entire amount for the six months of 1953 that are covered.

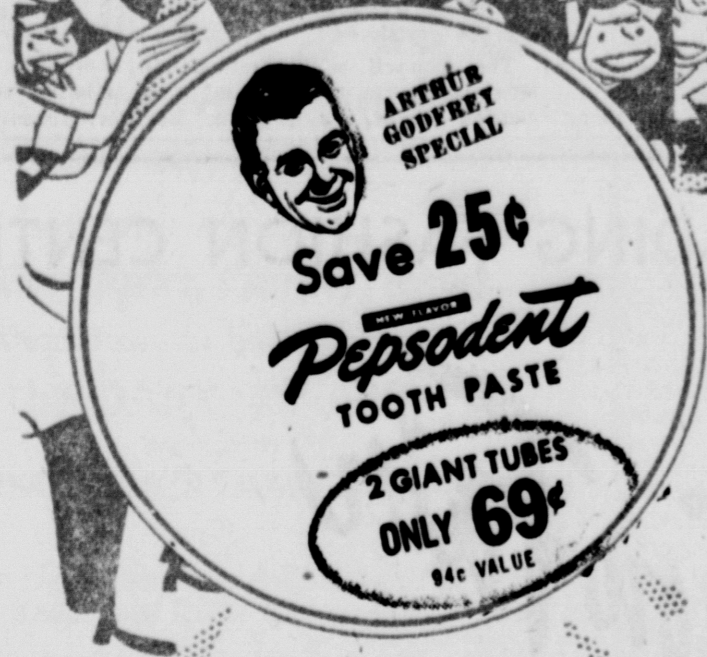

The borough ordinance, passed in October, was approved by the State Department of Labor and Industry on Dec. 16. Final approval from the federal government has not been received, but according to John B. Fullam, borough solicitor, "It is a routine matter and we expect final approval to be given some time in February."

"OPEN HOUSE" The Rev. and Mrs. Merritt Godshalk, of Hulmeville, were host and hostess at "open house" at the Methodist parsonage there Thursday evening, prior to and following watchnight service in Neshaunoy Methodist Church.

5 Lower Bucks Youths To Leave For 'Y' Assembly

Five Lower Bucks County High School boys will travel to Harrisburg this weekend to participate in the Annual State YMCA Youth and Government Assembly to be staged in the Pennsylvania Senate and House chambers.

The five: James Bustraan of Edgely, Richard Brunner of Morrisville, Richard Kennedy of Bristol township, Jack Petro of Bristol township, and Walter Michael of Fairless Hills, will join 200 other Hi-Y Legislators attending the Assembly.

They will leave Bristol at 6:45 a.m. Friday, and will proceed by auto to Conshohocken, where they will board a bus for Harrisburg. Enroute, they will be joined by various other YMCA youths also attending the Assembly.

The local district Junior Assemblies will be accompanied by O. E. Norbeck, associate general YMCA secretary, who said the boys are "well prepared" to fight for adoption of their proposed amendment to the present Motor Vehicle Code involving a discrepancy in the present small town and highway method of arrest for speeding.

All five boys from this area will be lodged in the Harrisburg Hotel, and will return home late Saturday night. The two-day experience in the Legislature will be climaxed by a Governors' banquet and ball at the Penn-Harris Hotel on Saturday evening.

'EGG TREES' RECEIVED BY SHUT-IN CHILDREN

Easter egg trees, fashioned by Girl Scouts of Troop 50, Bristol, were distributed on April 13 to shut-in children.

The trees, five in number, were made from blossoming branches, which were gilded, then hung with jelly bean eggs covered with transparent paper. Boiled eggs, dyed by the Scouts, as well as candy eggs which they had made, also filled the trees.

The leaders, Mrs. E. W. Bilger, Market street, Mrs. George Patterson, Buckley street, and Mrs. Frank Pizzulla, Walnut street, directed the work.

Junior Chamber At Neshaminy To Hold Charter Night

The Neshaminy Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold its charter night at Flannery's Restaurant, Pennell, on May 4.

The newly formed Morrisville Junior Chamber of Commerce has been invited to the dinner meeting. The club plans to ask public officials from Langhorne, Langhorne Manor, Newtown, Middletown, Pottsville and Hummelville to attend.

Henry Sodano is chairman of the charter night committee. He will be assisted by Jack Fadelin, Joseph Fizzano, Clifford Skubus and Paul Caracapa.

The club will sponsor a road-co in co-operation with the Morrisville and Bristol Jaycees on May 22 in the Langhorne Speedway. The teen-age driving contest will start at 9 a. m.

Al Tomlinson, chairman of the by-laws committee of the group, announced at a recent meeting that the by-laws have been drawn up. They have been patterned after the by-laws of the Bristol Jaycees.

Gordon Agevine, district governor, and Robert Curtis, national director of the junior chamber, spoke to the men at a meeting earlier this week. A movie on the Junior Chamber of Commerce was shown.

Garden Notes

By Walter W. Pitzonka, Jr.

With the summer like temperatures we have been having, you have noticed the increased growth of the lawn. Over the weekend, I found several people mowing the first time this season and this means the beginning of hard work. If by chance, you haven't as yet fertilized your lawn, get busy and enjoy the rich texture derived from feeding. As mentioned before, there are several good fertilizers. Many are organic, inorganic, and combinations of the latter two. Organics are slower acting but longer lasting in your soil but any way you prefer, feed your turf.

This week, a few more varieties of flowering shrubs are bursting out with color. For instance, the French lilacs with their lovely shades of red, purple, white, pink and blue will be out in color at the end of this week. The clusters of flowers are so large and majestic that only the best remarks are ever heard in reference to them. French lilacs have double blooms and this means that each individual bloom in the cluster have double the number of petals. Fragrance with a capital "F" is in order because these truly have it.

Another desirable bloomer now out in flower is Prunus glandulosa rosea plena or in other words, flowering almond. This shrub now has its stems just covered with thousands of gorgeous pale pink blooms. Flowering almond is excellent for any landscape planting because it is a natural blender into any group. Either in foundation plantings or corner plantings, flowering almond is a desirable and lasting material of beauty.

Are you looking for a certain shrub that now has flower but will also possess natural long lasting berries? Well, here's a knockout and it's called Viburnum caryocarpum. Many have nicknamed it the Koreanspice Viburnum because of the sweet penetrating fragrance. The flowers are in clusters borne heavily at this time of the year. So heavenly scented that in the still quiet of the evenings, this fragrance is carried for many a block. No one can imagine this shrub until they have experienced the perfumed scent that originates from its lovely pink tinted flowers.

Take a word of advice from me when I say that azaleas selling is becoming a regular racket. Don't let anyone tell you all azaleas are similar because this is far from true. Certainly some azaleas are 75c while others are $2.50 but they are not alike. Azaleas are grown from cuttings and some varieties root better than others. These naturally are the most common colors seen. Better nurseries handle and sell better azaleas with more brilliant colors for a little higher price. Yes, this is the difference, for a little more you can get a lovely brilliant spectacle meaning that these are the more difficult rooting varieties. Also beware of spring forced types especially from greenhouses. Sometimes, these varieties are more native to warm weather such as North Carolina southward. Perhaps the first summer, you'll have that expected luxuriant growth but beware of the winter. Unhardy azalea varieties tend to disappoint their owners in the spring because they will fall to pull through the winter thus meaning an impractical waste of money. Visit the nursery you can trust and where you get an honest tip on what varieties are suitable.

Until next week, happy gardening!

Versatility Marks Power Motor In Seat Pattern

Another step in the campaign to take all the work out of mowing the lawn is the introduction of the new Fairbanks-Morse "Rangerider," a power lawn mower that gives its owner a comfortable ride while it cuts the grass.

The Rangerider is designed to provide a "ride 'em" mower that is highly maneuverable to meet the needs of the home owner, yet big enough, fast enough and rugged enough for use on estates, farms, ranches, public lawns, schools, hospitals, and other institutions.

The new mower, powered by a 2.5-hp., 4-cycle gasoline engine, has a forward speed of 5 miles an hour and a reverse speed of 3 miles an hour. The big rear wheel with 16x14 picture-proof tire, is chain driven.

Ease of operation is the keynote of Rangerider design. A shift lever, convenient to the right hand, controls neutral, forward and reverse gears. Handbars steer the two front wheels, with precision-ground ball bearings in spindle and steering connections. Speed is controlled by a finger tip throttle on the left handle.

The rotary mower has four swinging blades driven by the engine through a friction clutch. Each blade has two cutting edges, and can be reversed for double service between sharpenings.

The chassis is constructed of heavy welded steel tubing, reinforced by steel bars. The housing is of heavy gauge sheet metal.

310,000,000 Chicks Hatched In Month

WASHINGTON — INS — More chicks were produced in commercial hatcheries last month than in any previous March.

The Agriculture Department says the total last month was 310 and one-half million chicks, compared with about 277 million last March.

BABY "TRIP" BASKET

Why not make your baby a "trip" basket? Line a small wicker basket with washable plastic. Then tuck a plastic bib and a plastic tumbler, flatware, and plate inside it. The whole combination can be washed with no trouble in soap.

Department States Milk, Egg Yield Sets New Record

HARRISBURG (INS) — Milk and egg production throughout Pennsylvania during March established new records for the month.

The State Agriculture department reported 389 million eggs were produced — an all-time record — while the milk yield totaled 541 million pounds.

Egg production was 51 million above February and 11 million over the figure reported for March, 1953, according to the department.

The increased milk yield of 3 percent over March of last year reflected a larger number of cows in pasture, the department said.

Milk production for the first three months of 1954 totaled one billion, 481 million pounds or 46,000 pounds more than in the corresponding period last year.

The Bristol (Pa.) Daily Courier Thursday Evening, April 22, 1954 25

Penna. Farmers Plant Less Wheat, But More Corn

HARRISBURG (INS) — Increase acreage planted to sweet corn but expectations of the smallest wheat crop in 11 years are reported by the State Agriculture Department.

The department said a survey shows Pennsylvania farmers will go in heavier this year for sweet corn for canning and freezing, with plantings up eight per cent over 1953 to 11,700 acres.

An April 1 estimate of wheat was placed at 16,522,000 bushels, three million more than the 1947 low, but four million less than last year.

Wheat was reduced last fall to 751,000 acres, a 15 per cent drop to the lowest level in history because of federal allotments.

The department said cool, wet and windy weather in March lessened swelling of fruit buds and lessened danger of freezing. Winter grains and pastures showed up poorly because of the weather.

58,000 families
in suburban Philadelphia can't be wrong!

AUTOMATIC GAS FUEL

is the people's choice for house heating!

That's right, over 58,000 families in suburban Philadelphia use gas... the modern fuel... to heat their homes. In the past five years alone, the number of homes heated with gas supplied by Philadelphia Electric Company has increased 327%—or more than four times!

Modern gas fuel has come to be accepted as the perfect fuel because it offers these exclusive advantages:

It's Convenient!

Gas is the perfect automatic fuel. All you do is set the thermostat—and forget it. No fuel to order—no fuel to store. You pay only for the fuel you use after you use it.

It's Clean!

Gas is clean; no dust or dirt. Your gas furnace can be located in your living area, if necessary.

It's Quiet!

A minimum of moving parts means greater quiet. Less chance of maintenance problems, too.

Low First Cost!

Gas heat costs less to install than any other type of automatic heating. Furthermore, there are no expensive service contracts to bother with.

Longer Life!

Because gas burners are simple and easy to clean and maintain, long life can confidently be expected. Many gas house heaters installed over twenty years ago still give dependable, carefree service.

For complete information about AUTOMATIC GAS HOUSE HEATING, call or visit your plumber, dealer, or any of our suburban offices.

SPRUCING UP TO TAKE the girl friend to a party, Junior slices down unruly locks with a greasless, non-sticky hair-training lotion.

By HELEN POST

MANY a mother of a small boy comes to the conclusion that the hair to the family fortunes loves dirt.

Hesitates through puddles, tracks mud into the house. When it is suggested that he wash his hands, he considers the act wholly unnecessary, if not downright painful. So he dips his grime-covered paws into water, rubs the dirt off on the towel.

He considers washing ears a silly affectation, so he doesn't do it. The weekly shampoo is a fierce battle between the older and younger generations.

He Falls in Love

Suddenly, all is changed! At the age of seven or eight our young man falls violently in love. He meets the girl of his dreams who, following the natural instincts of her sex, makes sentimental eyes at him.

He is seized with the idea of making himself pleasing to the eye. He insists upon bathing. He washes his neck. He cleans his fingernails.

He is concerned about his hair as never before. That little wispy atop his head bothers him. So do the forelocks that fall into a fringe and make him look girlish.

He gets these wayward locks under control by using a hair-training lotion that he is pleased to note is non-sticky and greasless. Applying it becomes an important daily function in his life. It gives him confidence. He hopes that little Sweetie Pie notices his well-groomed hairdo.

Another revolution takes place. Previous to the start of his romance, he had to be dragged struggling to a store to have new clothes selected for him. He had no interest in the matter; it interrupted his more important activities.

He's Clothes Conscious

Now he has his own ideas about clothes. The clerk brings out suit after suit but not one pleases him. His mother sits by, wonders how long it will be before she begins to gnash her teeth and pull out strands of her hair. Finally a selection is made and young Lothario departs pleased. He'll show her, that cute doll, who's taken his fancy.

Blind Boys Are Good Scouts

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

ONE of the most inspiring news items I've read for many months is a recent one about nine blind Boy Scouts camping along with 700 Scouts at Camp Alpine, New Jersey.

These nine boys, known as Lighthouse Troop of the Association of the Blind in New York City, on arriving at camp, got out of their station wagon, strapped on their packs, marched up the roadway and set up camp 100 feet down the trail.

Admirable Campers

Within half an hour, they were fully at ease, familiar with every rock, bush or tree in the area. They soon set out for firewood which they chopped up with their own axes. With four camp fires soon going, these blind Scouts fried steaks, roasted potatoes and cooked other foods.

Said Mr. Howard Frey, their volunteer Scoutmaster: "They're as keen and jolly as all the rest of the kids. I tell you, Scouting is wonderful for them. It brings them out into the open and makes them feel great. Of course, Scouting doesn't relax its standards for the handicapped and so they seldom advance beyond the First Class Scouts. But that's not the important thing. The big thing is that they learn self-reliance."

Always your heart and mine are quickened a bit on seeing handicapped children able to look after themselves.

(My bulletin "Self-Reliance" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

I am receiving more and more letters about grown-up children, whose mothers read my column when these children were smaller.

Some of these mothers are now telling me of their grandchildren. I also hear from young mothers who read my column when they were in high school. Many of these correspondents write to tell me of some specific ways in which my column has helped them.

Grandmother's Letter

For example, one grandmother writes: "I still read your column. You have the most sensible approach to the subject of child rearing of anyone I have ever read. Your recent article, on 'Benefits of Reading to the Child,' is so absolutely true. From the time our son could listen at all, I followed your suggestions in that regard, as well as in many other matters."

"He is now studying for his Ph.D. in the University of London, School of Economics. Much of his ability to concentrate, and his success in the academic field, I attribute to constant reading, according to your plan. So I am handing on to him and his wife the notebook of clippings from your column."

(My bulletin on "Reading to the Baby and Young Child" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

In recent years, an increasing number of letters have come from fathers, some seeking advice, some expressing gratitude. More and more letters from mothers say they and their respective husbands read and study my column together. More mothers are writing to relate the fine ways their husbands co-operate with them and their enjoyments together with their children.

How well anybody's advice works depends largely on the kind of person who reads it.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Some Girls Tell Their Troubles Because They Enjoy Martyr Role

DO YOU LIKE BEING A MARTYR? Some girls can't keep a secret. Everything that happens to them must immediately be shared with all their friends. Even the things that hit them deepest must be aired to all, discussed by everybody.

Of course, some girls whose personal relationships are always in a state of confusion have to talk with somebody to find out what really happened to them. They have no perspective on things, see no relation between cause and effect, have no imagination and little enough experience to base their own opinions on. So they talk things over with their friends. Their detached point of view highlights details, sharpens up the importance of little things that were said. Makes the picture clearer. At least it draws a picture. Whether it has anything to do with the case or not is something else again. The picture is as the friends see it.

Girls who draw their own conclusions, have opinions of their own, and plot their own courses, don't discuss everything with everybody. If they make mistakes, they keep them to themselves. If someone offends them, they lock their hurt up tight. They don't hash their ruptured romances over with everybody. They learn their little lessons quietly on their own.

They certainly don't broadcast the grim news that boys can hurt them!

Don't you know girls who wear the robes of a martyr with pleasure? They talk constantly about the wrongs that have been done them. They react to every letdown and broken date as to a frightful hurt. They approach every new friendship with a skeptical eye. And as soon as possible get across the information that they have had the raw deal from a recent boy friend—and nothing like that is going to happen any more.

Such a martyr attitude gets talked about, of course. The boys hear about it. It's enough to scare them away. And when a boy does get up enough courage to date a martyr, he feels as though he were walking on eggs. Any little out of the way thing he does can ruin the works.

In my opinion, that martyr role is an artful disguise. It's donned to avoid confessing mistakes. It might cover up, for instance, the mistake of being glib. She blames some lad because she believed everything he said and read more into his words than he meant. It might cover up the mistake of taking things for granted. She blames him for not crashing through when she assumed she could count on him. It might disguise the fact that she fell head over tins for a boy who just plain didn't consider her his type. What a wrong he did her! How hurt she is.

And what an admission of weakness talking about any such hurt is! Of course, it isn't romantic to blame yourself for any of the fixes you're in. Nobody would care, give you any sympathy or handle you with kid gloves. It's more fun to play fragile? For whom, I wonder!

week end pleasures.

YOUR BIRTHDAY by Stella

THURSDAY, APRIL 22 — Born today, music and drama are two fields in which you have outstanding talent. Make use of it on the stage, the screen, radio or television. You are really fond of travel and will want to be on the move most of the time. It can be said that your home is in your trunk!

You are very analytical and sometimes a little too critical of yourself as well as others. Perhaps this is because you are something of a perfectionist. At least, be tactful when you criticize others. Be constructive in what you have to say. In this fashion you might develop into a producer-actor-manager. The stars have marked you for financial success. Your talents will always bring you a living — if not a fortune. You will need to learn to save, if you would accumulate wealth. You should weed someone who has a "gypsy" foot too! You like to take your family along on your travels — so be sure you have the kind of a family that wants to go along or your affections are very likely to stray.

Among those who were born on this date are: Ada Rehan, actress; Ellen Glasgow, James Normal Hall and William J. Fielding, authors; Jonathan Dickenson, early president of Princeton. To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

FRIDAY, APRIL 23 — Wind up your work at the office today so that you can
